2. Chain Bridge

No visit to Budapest is complete without crossing the iconic Chain Bridge that connects Buda and Pest. Built in the 19th century, this suspension bridge is not only a marvel of engineering but also offers stunning panoramic views. Don't forget to take a romantic stroll across the bridge in the evening to admire the city lights.

3. Hungarian Parliament Building

The Hungarian Parliament Building is an architectural masterpiece that dominates the city's skyline. This Neo-Gothic edifice, inspired by the Palace of Westminster, is the largest building in Hungary and serves as its seat of government. Explore the interior to admire its stunning halls, breathtaking staircase, and impressive gold accents.

4. Fisherman's Bastion

Offering panoramic views of the city, the Fisherman's Bastion is a fairytale-like fortification located on Castle Hill. This enchanting structure, with its seven gleaming towers representative of the seven Hungarian tribes who settled in the Carpathian Basin, is adorned with intricate stone carvings and serves as an observation terrace.

5. St. Stephen's Basilica

Named after the first King of Hungary, St. Stephen's Basilica is a majestic Roman Catholic church and an architectural gem. Its neoclassical design, captivating interior, and panoramic views from the dome make it a must-visit attraction. Don't miss the opportunity to see the mummified hand of St. Stephen, preserved in the basilica's reliquary.

6. Széchenyi Thermal Bath

Budapest is renowned for its therapeutic thermal springs, and the Széchenyi Thermal Bath is a perfect place to experience this unique aspect of Hungarian culture. Relax in its various indoor and outdoor pools, each with different temperatures and mineral compositions. The beautiful architecture and luxurious atmosphere make this one of the most popular thermal baths in the city.

7. Heroes' Square

Heroes' Square, located at the end of Andrassy Avenue, is a symbolic tribute to Hungary's history, culture, and national heroes. The iconic Millennium Monument, flanked by statues representing the seven chieftains of the Magyars, is the centerpiece of the square. The square also houses the Museum of Fine Arts and the Kunsthalle Budapest.

8. Dohány Street Synagogue

One of the largest synagogues in the world, the Dohány Street Synagogue is a significant Jewish heritage site and an architectural marvel. With its stunning Moorish Revival design and intricate decorations, the synagogue provides a glimpse into Budapest's rich Jewish history. Visit the adjacent Jewish Museum and Holocaust Memorial Center to learn more about this vibrant community.

9. Margaret Island

Escape the bustling city and unwind in the tranquil oasis of Margaret Island. Located in the middle of the Danube River, this spacious park offers beautiful gardens, walking paths, and recreational activities. Rent a bike or take a leisurely stroll while enjoying the spectacular views of the city. The park is also home to medieval ruins and several thermal baths.

10. Great Market Hall

Experience the vibrant atmosphere and flavors of Budapest at the Great Market Hall, the city's largest and oldest indoor market. Browse through the stalls of fresh produce, spices, meats, and local delicacies. Don't forget to try lángos, a delicious Hungarian savory pastry, and indulge in other traditional bites. The beautiful architecture and lively ambiance make this a must-visit destination.

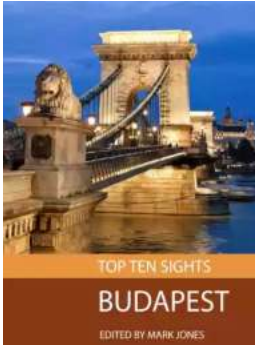

Budapest, with its captivating history and stunning landmarks, truly offers a magical experience for every visitor. Embrace the beauty of this city, explore its hidden gems, and create memories that will last a lifetime. Ensure you add these top ten sights to your Budapest itinerary to make the most of your trip!
